A Recipe for Easter

ROAST CHICKEN WITH BASIL AND LEMON

(Serves 2)

6 free range chicken pieces
on the bone (thighs, breasts, drumsticks)

Olive Oil

2 large cloves of garlic

1 lemon

A large handful of basil

A wine glass of white wine

Season the chicken well and place in a roasting tin. Pour over enough olive oil to moisten and make a shallow pool in the tin. Squash the garlic in its skin and tuck it in with the chicken.

Squeeze the lemon over the chicken and drop empty lemon shells in too. Pour the wine over the chicken. Roast for 30 minutes in a preheated oven 200 degree C/Gas 6. Then tear up the basil leaves and toss them with the chicken. Return to oven for 10 minutes. Serve with roasted red peppers.

(Recipe courtesy of Mill St Butchers, Danny and Heidi.)

'Oh to be in England. Now that April's there'

April is the fourth month of the year and its name derives from the Latin Aprilis but no-one is sure of the exact etymology of the word. More than likely it comes from the Latin verb 'aperire' to open as this is the time of year for buds to open (at least in England!)

April 21st is the Queen's actual birthday as opposed to her official birthday which is held on a Saturday in June to ensure more clement weather for the Trooping of the Colour

April 23rd is St George's Day and also Shakespeare's birthday

Easter is early this year and falls at the beginning of April. Having just experienced the coldest Winter for thirty-one years let's hope the Summer ahead will be a good deal warmer than the last few.

If you have any local events you'd particularly like publicised please let us know

Art News Lundy Art Group

We meet on the last Friday of the month in St.Mary's church hall Appledore from 6-9p.m.

All abilities are welcome. Each month we have a different theme and work can be in your chosen medium. In addition, during the year we have demonstrations from professional artists. We hold an annual exhibition in St. Mary's Church, during the weekend of the Appledore Arts Festival. There is always plenty of help on hand. So if you fancy a painting session, do come along and give it a try! For more details Tel.423884

News from the Burton Art Gallery & Museum

The Jerwood Drawing Prize was established in 1996, and is the country's leading drawing award, and the exhibition tours throughout the year. For artists, both students and professionals, this is one of their highest achievements. Out of 2,300 submissions, 66 have been chosen, judged by artist, Roger Mabert, Senior Curator for the Hayward Gallery, Southbank Centre, and Nicholas Usherwood, art Critic and Curator. So much variety of Media and subject, well worth a close look. You have until the end of the day on the 9th April when the exhibition leaves to continue its tour.

The R.J. Lloyd Ceramic Collection will at last be on display on the first floor of the Gallery from 9th April and ceramics will take centre stage in the Craft Area and the Café du Parc, From the 15th April to 17th May the paintings of Carol Rhodes will be shown and on 17th April former curator John Butler will give a 'talk and tour' of Carol's paintings. You will find all you need to know in the new brochure available free from reception

Coastal Memories required

The 2010 Appledore Fellowship has been awarded to Kim Bailey, a mature fine art foundation degree student who studies at the North Devon School of Art and lives in Westward Ho! The fellowship is an initiative which supports and encourages an emerging artist who must have recently completed or is undertaking a degree in any area of visual arts. The chosen artist is given the opportunity to showcase their work at the Appledore Visual Arts Festival which this year has the theme of "coastlines". The 2010 festival runs from Thursday June 3rd to Sunday June 6th.

Kim is hoping to produce artwork, to be exhibited during the festival, which involves the coastal stories and memories of the local North Devon community. She needs willing volunteers to speak to her for voice recordings, emails detailing coastal tales and memories or photographs. If you have any interesting tales to tell regarding wildlife sightings, surfing stories, wild weather, beach finds, the coastal dumpsite on Northam Burrows, historical facts, wartime, or absolutely anything relating to our local coastline then please email Kim at **kbappledorefellowship@yahoo.co.uk**

A free drop in mono printing workshop, relating to the coastline theme, will be held during the Easter holidays on Friday 9th April 10am-3pm in St Mary's Church Hall Appledore. Anyone is welcome to come along and produce a hand made print which could be exhibited in the arts festival. Children are very welcome, accompanied by an adult. It will be run by a group of volunteer art degree students from North Devon School of Art. All materials will be provided free of charge but please bring an apron or wear old clothes. Further information about the Appledore Arts Festival and Fellowship is available at **www.appledorearts.org**. Information about Petroc's art foundation degrees is available from Pete Newell, the course manager, email **pnewell@ndevon.ac**

THE GREEN PAGE

but open to contributions from anyone

Screening of 'The Age of Stupid'

Bideford Quakers organised a screening of the latest documentary about Climate Change on Friday, 12th March to an audience of over 30 local people. It's a documentary with a difference: it begins in 2055 and has Pete Postlethwaite as a survivor of the catastrophe that has made the human race extinct! Gruelling stuff! Pete reviews the last 55 years of life on earth using a range of material drawn from the media or actually filmed for the purpose. Broadly, the message is: we still have time to save the human race from extinction but the window of opportunity is small – and we need to act NOW!

Another Pete, Peter Yeo, who was one of the film's 'funders' was present as was Adam Symons, in his role as environmental scientist rather than as a politician. They were both available to answer questions at the end of the film. Torridge was represented by Amanda Wycherley and both she and Miranda Cox, one of our councillors, responded to issues relating to Torridge District Council's 'green' policies. Geoffrey Cox's office was also represented – so a wide spread of local interests was there.

If you're still doubtful whether climate change is a reality or whether it's man-made or natural, then I would urge you to watch the film. If you disagree with its conclusions or want to dispute some of the evidence, then, once you've watched it, you can do so from a stronger standpoint.

Kids Krate Volunteers

The Burton Art Gallery and Museum has an exciting opportunity for anyone wishing to gain experience of, or to support our education programme, by working with our Under 5s visitors and their families/carers, as part of our Kids Krate sessions (starting June 2010).

Hours will be every Friday from 12.30 – 2.30pm.

As a volunteer your role is likely to include setting up and putting away the Krate and any associated materials/furniture, running activities on occasion, and generally facilitating and encouraging use of the Krate. You may also undertake some informal monitoring activities so that feedback can be collated and incorporated into our future programme. Full training and support will be provided.

We are looking for reliable and enthusiastic people, with good communication skills, a passion for learning and a willingness to welcome and engage with this new audience in the Burton's galleries and museum. Experience of working with children or the delivery of workshops is desirable but not essential, as training will be provided.

Volunteers accepted to work with the Kids Krate would be subject to a CRB check.

For a full role description and volunteer application form please contact Jo Simpson on 01237 471455 or email jo.simpson@torridge.gov.uk

... More Money Money Money

This month I'm taking a look at how the internet can help you save, and make, money.

The days of music piracy are over...

... long live free music streaming. The most popular example of this is Spotify (www.spotify.com), an application that allows you to listen to thousands of music tracks for free (from Mozart to Muse) while connected to the internet. It's paid for by advertising, so after every few songs you'll have to listen to a short advert. At the time of writing, however, Spotify was closed to new registrations, so an excellent alternative is We7 (www.we7.com) that works on the same premise (only on a website rather than an application).

Don't pay until you've got a discount!

It's true- before you make any purchase online, check to see if the retailer is offering a discount code on Voucher Codes (www.vouchercodes.co.uk). I've already had a free dessert at an Italian restaurant, and – don't tell mum – got 10% off a Mothers' Day gift.

Earn some cash by giving your opinion

Unlike the cold calling tele-surveys people, there are a few websites out there that will pay you to take surveys. It won't make you a millionaire, but the surveys are short and after a while you could end up with a nice bit of pocket money. One example is YouGov (www.bit.ly/b0yvA5), which you often hear quoted in the news.

Find the cheapest petrol

PetrolPrices.com compares the prices at over one hundred thousand filling stations in the UK. All you need to do is register (for free) and type in your postcode to compare the nearest ones.

Try before you buy

Loads of companies offer free samples of their products online, and websites like Student Free Stuff (www.studentfreestuff.com) list them. My favourite one at the moment is Twinings, who are giving away two free infusions tea bags (<http://www.twinings.co.uk/free-tea>).

Of course, as with everything on the internet, you should be careful who you give your personal details to. Also, don't ever spend out any money for registration to websites, or for the promise of reaping lots back in return. The internet is great for things like this but remember: if it seems too good to be true it most probably is. Tom Collins

Disgruntled of Bideford

or

Too old for the last bus!

Recently I thought I must be experiencing the ultimate 'April Fool' when my bus pass was refused as I attempted to board the last bus home from Barnstaple. Luckily they were happy to take my money, so it seems that pensioners are at least still allowed to travel late at night, but not for free! Is this discrimination, or an attempt to keep us off the streets after dark?

Are we a threat to normal law-abiding citizens?

Has anyone else experienced this – I am aware of the early morning curfew, but didn't know we were banned after eleven as well.

Let me have your thoughts

You write .....

New book by local author, Michael Henderson

You might like to know about, and order, my eleventh book 'Ice in Every Carriage - An Extraordinary Asian Journey 1952-53'. It has a foreword by Rajmohan Gandhi, a grandson of the Mahatma, who describes the book as 'a priceless record of a bold, multicultural initiative by civil society at a time when people did not use such phrases, a proof that history is often made by people usually missed out by historians.' It was an eight-month trip made by 200 people with four stage plays through India, Pakistan and Sri Lanka. I was one of the stage crew. The title comes from the ice blocks which were handed in at every station and, with fans playing on them, provided elementary air conditioning (Available shortly at your local library)MH

Blackmore's Yard

Thank you Mr Berriman for your photos of Blackmores Yard in 1947 and the wooden passenger ship you helped to build. I hope to put these in the next newsletter – computer trouble this month has prevented me from printing them in April (ED)

Catshole

I have been seeking confirmation of the origins of the name, 'Catshole' for Chris Hassell. I always understood that the area was below the old Turnpike gate at Twinnaways, ie the Hartland or Clovelly Rd tollhouse opposite Baccaborough, where my great grandfather had what we would call a small holding with up to 53 acres rented from the Moreton estate up to about 1913, now forming part of the Pynes Lane Estate

The suggestion has been made that the name could be linked to a corruption of the name 'Caddesdown' on the other hand it could be linked to the 'Caddy' family, who owned property in Bideford.

From 'An Essay Towards A History of Bideford' by John Watkins about 1792, (see reprint of 1993 by The Lazarus Publishing Co) page 90 refers, to 'of the Glebe', references Western Catt's hole, Middle cat's-hole, Eastern catt's-hole with Cleave, also reference to Twimmaways.

Scene & Heard

From April 1st hire a CD for only 50p for a week!

With new titles coming into Devon Libraries all the time, you really do need to come along and have a look. Items can be hired for a full week, with prices ranging from £1 - £3 for a DVD, and NOW only 50p for a CD. Here are just a few that have recently arrived at Bideford :

Leona Lewis – Echo (CD)

This is the follow-up to her very successful “Spirit”. It is a very accomplished second album and sees her working with some established names. Leona can really sing and her voice has the power to engage you.

Jamie Cullum – Pursuit (CD)

Jamie returns after a 4 year break with what is acclaimed by critics as his strongest album to date. Features self-penned material as well as tracks written by Cole Porter amongst others. There’s fast and slow, funk and jazz, soul and R & B – something for everyone.

Julie & Julia (DVD)

Celebrating the life of cook Julia Child. Julie (Meryl Streep) wants to be a writer, but gives herself the challenge to cook her way through Child’s “Mastering the art of French cooking” in one year. It’s an absorbing and entertaining movie, with subtle humour. A feel good film.

An Education (DVD)

An impressionable, suburban London teen (Carey Mulligan) finds her traditional education replaced by something more sinister when an older, worldly suitor (Peter Sarsgaard) sweeps her off her feet. Authentically set in the 60s it contrasts dull suburbia with the hedonistic frenzy of life elsewhere. Great film with wonderful performances.

The No1 Ladies Detective Agency - BBC (DVD)

Based on the novels by Alexander McCall Smith about a fledgling private detective in Botswana. The scenery is beautiful, stark and vivid, and the spirit of Africa shines through.

Fabulous Fifth Season for Farmers’ Market!

Hartland Farmers’ Market starts its fifth season on Sunday April 4th. Market organisers are confident that many of the market regulars will be returning, and have already had confirmation from Beckland Game, Penny & Tim, Kings Cottage Nursery, Holsworthy Organics, Patio Plants, Vera’s Cheeses, Christine’s Kitchen, Fliss’s Fish and the Bee Team. Many more are expected, and there should be at least 15 stalls in the Parish Hall on Easter Sunday.

The Renowned Farmers’ Café will again be open for business, selling its best full English breakfast sourced from market traders. There will be vegetarian options, and lighter bites for smaller appetites.

Market organiser, Rod Landman, said, “We really can’t believe it’s been five years already! It hardly seems like five minutes since the first one.”

The markets are increasingly popular with visitors to Hartland, and many of the local accommodation providers now put the market on their websites as a main reason for coming to the area. However, Rod is clear that the market depends on local people to keep it going. “There would be no market without North Devon folk, so we’re always trying to find ways of making sure it provides a proper service to people, so we’re sticking with our Locals Loyalty Card and the Community Stall.”

They will run on the first Sunday of the month from April - October, 10am – 1pm, in Hartland Parish Hall. The first will be opened by Cllr Adam Symons, who has very kindly helped to arrange a Torridge District Council grant to help with publicity. They are run on a non-profit basis and benefit a range of local charities, starting with the Small School and Hartland† Cubs. For more details, or to book a stall, contact Rod Landman on 441 786.

Gunpowder, treason and plot – perhaps?

Dotted about the British countryside on tops of high hills are small outstanding groups of trees. I want to know who planted them and for what purpose? It might have been egotistical land owners to demonstrate ownership of the land or hill on which they were planted, but could there be another explanation?

If you stand in Honestone car park and look in a north-easterly direction you can see such a group. High above the Torridge and to the right of Instow you will see the white flash of the old Youth Hostel building halfway to the horizon. Along that same line but slightly to the right, silhouetted on the horizon's rim, is a group of trees in which I am interested. They are approximately nine miles away and some three miles outside of Braunton.

As stated before similar groups of trees are dotted about the country and if you go to Oxfordshire there is a similar clump above Broughton. It was at Broughton castle that the planning for the Gunpowder was done. There, at the top of the staircase, a room with three exterior walls is known as the 'room without ears'. Is it a coincidence that the Vicar of Braunton is rumoured to have been involved in the gunpowder Plot?

Another explanation could be that, in the medieval period of Roman Catholic persecution, such trees were markers guiding itinerant priests to a safe house nearby. Arlington Court home of the Catholic Chichester family is not too far away and the owners of Broughton Castle were also of the Catholic persuasion. Itinerant priests, constantly hunted, unable to declare themselves. It doesn't stretch the imagination too far to suppose that the key is in the first line of the one hundred and twenty-first psalm 'I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help' or directions, perhaps!

Snow and storm on Exmoor by Jack Hurley

During this last cold Winter, I recalled this aptly named book in the local history section of Bideford Library. It recounts the bitter Winter of 1947 when Exmoor was virtually cut off from the world.

Just to emphasise the complete isolation of Simonsbath, a village spokesman said

'Oil supplies and candles are low, and we might just as well go to bed, except that it's no warmer up there'

The temperature was -20 'Vigars the post said' Things are a bit tight. We shan't get any more supplies until we dig ourselves out. I had five loaves of bread yesterday, but with sharing them out, I'm down to one.'

Of course at this time they still had to contend with post war rationing meaning they had no supplies built up against the Winter. Happily Spring has now arrived for all of us (Ed)

Poet's Corner

The traveller's song

Out on the hills, the road behind, the path in front where it will wind,
the soft green ground, and sky of grey,
and peace to find along the way.

Out in the wind, a gusty kiss,
there is no better time than this,
unless a summer's soft embrace is kinder to the traveller's pace.

An open sky, and all around such joy of spirit to be found, and everywhere a new delight
to lift the soul to greater height.

The way is clear, and everything is like a sip from some deep spring out of the earth of long ago,
to cool the mind, and stroke the brow.

Some stay indoors, sit by the fire and reading books they will aspire to heath and moorland, hedge and trail but surely not to much avail.

Put down your book, and come outside,
the road is there, the world is wide.
Come with me friend, and pass some time,
the path to tread, the hill to climb

Sue Valentine

If the shoe fits

Stiletto, low or medium
Well heeled or even down
As one before the other
They stroll around the town
They're laced, zipped up or buttoned
Or maybe highly strung
With soft and easy leather or long and silver tongue
The beauty of the wearing
Is helped by horns and trees
With buffing cloths and brushes
All working hard to please
Well that's the information
I'm sure it's almost true
It's down to earth, yet versatile
The sole of fun – THE SHOE

Artist's Garden Open for Charity

St Merryn, Higher
Park Road,

Braunton, Devon EX33 2LG

St Merryn garden will be opening from 2pm to 6pm on Sundays 18 Apr, 23 May, 20 June and 11 July with The National Garden Scheme to raise money for Nursing, Caring and Gardening Charities including Macmillan Cancer Support and Marie Curie Cancer Care.

Directions: 5m W of Barnstaple. In centre of Braunton turn R at T-lights round Nat West Bank. At top of Heanton St turn L and immediately R into Lower Park Rd. Continue until you see Tyspane Nursing Home on L then turn L into unmarked lane & R at top. Pink house 200yds on R. Parking where available. Admission is £3, children free.

The very sheltered  $\frac{3}{4}$ -acre, south-facing, cottage garden at St Merryn has planting to sustain interest throughout the year - using foliage as well as flowers, scent and colour-themed borders. The owner, who is an artist, hopes to lead the visitor visually round the garden using the winding paths, leading through lawns, shrubs and mature trees, to the summerhouse (built and thatched by the owner), the ponds - the sculptural bonfire - the hens and the swimming pool (also self-built). It is a garden made for relaxation and enjoyment! There are many sheltered seating areas plus herbaceous borders, a grassy knoll and gravel garden. Open gallery and home-made teas. Contact: Dr W & Mrs Ros Bradford Telephone: 01271 813805. Email: ros@st-merryn.co.uk. For further information about St Merryn and other gardens open in the area, visit the National Garden Scheme website www.ngs.org.uk

The National Garden Scheme was founded in 1927 and raises funds by opening gardens to the public. Last year in Devon over 140 gardens, most of which are privately owned and only open for the NGS, raised over £110,000 for Nursing, Caring and Gardening Charities

Family History

History; Top tips for tracing 1st World War Soldiers.

Following on from last month's Army Ancestors, I shall go into more detailed searching for WW1 soldiers. Before you start you really need to know the unit he served with and regimental number. If your forebear died during the War the Commonwealth War Graves commission can help. Their Dept of Honour Register at www.cwgc.org will tell you his unit, service number and where he is buried.

All who served overseas were entitled to The British War and Victory Medals and before the end of 1915 they were entitled to the 1914 or 1914-1915 Star. Their entitlements can be found on Medal Index Cards at TNA at Kew. Only about 40% of the service records were saved from being destroyed by fire in 1940. They can be found on microfiche at TNA in three series. WO364 comprises largely of men who were discharged to pension or medical grounds. WO363 is for men who were killed in action, died of their wounds or left without a pension. WO400 is for members of the Household Cavalry.

Army lists were published quarterly and listed all Officers and promotions. Again a complete list is at TNA and you may find copies at libraries or Record Offices.

War Diaries will tell you what action the units got up to and these are in WO95 at TNA. If your ancestor was awarded a medal for gallantry such as Military Medal or Military Cross the date the award was made is recorded in the London Gazette and occasionally a citation was made. TNA has a complete set of Gazettes and in addition the information is available online at www.gazettes-online.co.uk

Few records exist for men who were wounded, but MH106 at TNA needs to be looked at. The deaths of officers and men are recorded in 81 volumes of "Soldiers Died in The Great War". Here you will find unit, number, date of death and possibly other information such as Attestation Papers or next of kin. Most reference libraries hold a copy of this CD and an index to the death certificates for these men can be found at www.1837online.com or at the Family Record Centre. Regimental Museums are often a useful source but you are more likely to find only officer material. The Imperial War Museum has a huge collection of private papers, diaries and other records and can be viewed through their online catalogue at www.iwmcollections.org.uk

One has to have some luck when researching war ancestors and a great deal of patience. So good luck!

Possible new afternoon Bridge Club in Bideford

I am looking to start a new Duplicate Bridge Club which would meet one afternoon a week in Bideford. The emphasis will be to create a friendly, relaxed atmosphere for playing bridge. Even if you have never come to a club before, if you enjoy playing bridge, then this may be the club for you. If interested please let me know as I would like to assess the level of local interest. Please contact Simon on 01237 421079 or e-mail scgfeg@virginmedia.com
