A sideways look at Bideford life

It's been a good summer (mostly). I say this because as usual the weather has been a bit downcast, like Bideford's mood some of the time, and there's the inevitable feeling that we'll do better next year

However Buzz is a moan free zone and I only want to emphasise the good points (in no particular order!)

The new Blazeys cafe in Mill Street by the Baptist Church

10 out of 10 to them for effort

The Saturday barbecues(whatever the weather) have been superb using lovely local meat .

Particularly good was their hog roast for Heritage Day. Last time I went they also had a brilliant saxophonist playing, which made everyone feel good.

The Froot Loop for its wonderful secret garden plus family of wild ducks! This has been a real discovery and a treat on sunny days. Delightfully peaceful, lovely plantings, an oasis just behind Mill St.

Lathwells for their continuous good service, friendly atmosphere, lovely food, and to John for his determination to make Cooper St look good for the tourists, even to the extent of clearing all the weeds himself!

Radfords Newsagent for friendly service and general helpfulness. And for helping me to find the missing rivet from my sunglasses!

More bouquets next month! Do you know anyone who deserves a mention?

Write to me, Rose, c/o Bideford Library New Rd Bideford Ex39 2hr tel 01237 476075 (messages taken) or email editor@bidefordbuzz.org.uk

The Culture Show continues during October in various places in Bideford. The project brings artworks into places where people go on a regular basis and as part of their normal day. For example shops, cafes, a bank or a supermarket. These places, in turn, are venues for hanging and placing creative artworks.

Culture Show is being organised by Bideford Bay Creatives (BBC), a group of creative practitioners based in Bideford and the surrounding area. One of our aims is to work in partnership with local businesses and this is being realised through this annual project. This year venues include ASDA at Atlantic Village, Gerties Café, Britannia, the steps on the Quay, The Apothecary, Complete Computing (Old Town), Blazeys Café, Walter Henrys Bookshop, Bideford Library, and Victoria Park.

There will be a trail map to follow, so you can visit all of the venues. These will be available at all participating venues. For all enquiries please contact Bideford Bay Creatives by email at info@bbcdevon.org, visit the website at www.bbcdevon.org for details on venues and participating artists.

Cats Protection does it for FREE!

Free neutering for cats is available in the Bideford/Holsworthy area from 1 October to 31 October courtesy of Cats Protection on a first come, first served basis.

Neutering offers cats of all ages some solid benefits:

- It stops unwanted kittens (one unneutered female cat can be responsible for 20,000 descendants in just five years)
- Your cat is less likely to fight, thus reducing the risk of catching life-threatening diseases transmitted by bites and saliva
- Neutered cats are less likely to wander and get run over (most cats killed on the road are unneutered toms)
- Neutered male cats are less likely to display territorial behaviour such as spraying

Cats Protection believes neutering is an essential part of responsible cat ownership and neuters over 176,000 cats and kittens each year.

The charity recommends the neutering of domestic cats from four months of age but you should seek advice from your vet for each individual cat. Please call the {branch} on 0845 3712717 for more details on eligibility and to obtain a voucher.

Cats Protection's Bideford/Holsworthy is part of the charity's nationwide network of 257 volunteer-run branches and 30 adoption centres that together help 230,000 cats and kittens in the UK each year.

Hartland Wildlife Rescue

Last week a baby gull landed in our back yard.

The gulls have taken to nesting in all the surrounding chimney pots believing they are on a cliff. The result is there's not much room for the family once they arrive, and they either fall down the chimney or out of the nest- this poor gull did both – was at first stuck in the chimney and then hauled itself out only to fall into the yard, miraculously surviving.

What to do with a gull who can't fly and whose mother had apparently abandoned it. Not being a great lover of seagulls the temptation was to open the gate and let it fend for itself. My neighbour did just that a year or so back with disastrous consequences for the gull. We spent some time on the internet trying to find a contact for Hartland Wildlife Rescue – fine if you can email them -but not so good if you want to contact them urgently. (However Beth has since told me that the local vets have her number so in an emergency you can track her down through them.)

Luckily another wildlife organisation was able to supply their mobile number and I rang Beth Tyler-King.

She couldn't come out immediately, but was happy to come the next morning and 'rescue' the gull -absolutely brilliantly I have to say. She first lured it into a net, then put it quickly into a box and took it back to Hartland where it will be reared with seven other gulls of the same age. She lets them loose once they can fly in about a month's time.

I was so impressed I went straight down to the Hartland shop in Cooper St with a donation of clothes. Many thanks RA

Note

This non-profitable charity is run by Beth Tyler-King who started off by rescuing a few animals and now cares for dozens of mainly wild animals on a very full-time basis.

She relies entirely on donations of food, blankets etc and also spends time raising funds to feed and care for the animals. In addition Beth takes rescued animals to the vets to ensure their well-being and often re-homes them. Visit them on Facebook or go to the Hartland Wildlife Rescue shop in Cooper Street Bideford

Preparing for tramps

On the recommendation of the General purposes committee an order was given for a dozen new hammers for stone breaking

Long Day in London

The special day excursion by the London and South West railway will leave Bideford and Torrington for London on Friday night arriving at 5.55am and returns at midnight giving a fine opportunity of visiting places of interest. The return fare is 12 shillings.(rather a punishing schedule!)

The Mayor Elect

The Mayor Elect is Councillor WT Goaman JP who was born in Grenville St 46 years ago. He will be following in the steps of his father Alderman T Goaman. Mr Goaman carries on the business of Messrs Goaman and Son wholesale grocers of Bideford and Barnstaple.

Clovelly

Mr A Wickham of London and Clovelly has recently caught on Clovelly bay with a rod and line a skate weighing 162 lbs. It took him an hour and 45 minutes to land the fish in the boat. Twelve months ago he captured a skate of 160 lbs

History on our doorstep

This is the slogan of TADHIS- Torrington and District Historical Society which has just published its Winter programme. They are an enthusiastic group of over 50 members who come from as far afield as Winkleigh, Littleham, Bideford, and Dolton.

Meetings are on the second Monday each month – in the Winter at Torrington Methodist Church.

During the summer there are expeditions to various historical locations.

All talks are by experts in their field. 'Farming yesteryear' is the title of October's meeting followed by a local Viking mystery 'The Hubberstone Project' in November. There is always an historical Christmas 'do' at the Torrington Arms in December and in January industrial archaeology is under review with the 'Tide Mills of the Taw and Torridge rivers'

Subscription is £10 a year for adults and £2.50 for juniors. Visitors may attend for a fee of £1. If you would like a copy of Historyton, our newsletter please ring Vic Webb on 0769 520428 or just turn up at the meetings. We look forward to seeing you!

Bideford Blind Club

Local people may not be aware that there is a social club run by volunteers in Bideford that caters for both blind and partially-sighted persons along with their carers/friends and relatives. The club, which has been operating for over 30 years, meets once every two weeks; usually on a Tuesday afternoon from 2.00pm – 4.00pm in the Community Room on the 1st Floor of Glebefields House, Glebefields Court in Northam. A mix of fun and games, activities and entertainment is provided at the centre, followed by tea and biscuits or sometimes a lovely cream tea. Members pay only £1-00 per meeting and bring any small items suitable for a 50p raffle each time. Outings and occasional lunches at local venues are also enjoyed by the members, with many such activities being grant-aided so free to members of the club. A spin-off group also enjoys volunteer-supported indoor bowls at the local bowling club in Bideford once a week. Some of the events currently being planned before Christmas include: an afternoon of home entertainment; a talk from a member of The Greyhound Trust; a musical afternoon with local group Mishmash and a Christmas outing. Transport can often be arranged to pick up and return members to their door and there is always a volunteer helper at the centre to guide them to the meeting area. We are really keen to welcome new members from the Bideford and Torridge areas; telephone our secretary Hilary Lewis on 01237 421723 for more details.

Bring Mother!

Chloe Bix, folk singer has started a weekly session at the ROYAL GEORGE in Appledore - every Wednesday 1-3pm - which is a sing-song of wartime and oldtime classics. You'll be pleased to know that people of all ages are enjoying it, but it is also a chance to entertain folk in our community that prefer something slightly more gentle than the hustle and bustle of night time entertainment, so I encourage you all to 'bring Mother' in for a sing-song and a sherry!! The pub is also offering a Special Traditional O.A.P. Lunch on a Wednesday.

- Befriending/Home visiting - someone to call round for a cup of tea and a chat from time to time
- Advocacy - help with form-filling
- Helping Hand - help with basic shopping & other small tasks (e.g. putting the rubbish out)

Burton Art gallery and Museum – family events in October.

October is the month of The Big Draw, part of the Campaign for Drawing's initiative to get us all drawing. At the Burton we have teamed up with Bideford Library and Adult and Community Learning department at Devon County Council to host Bideford's Big Draw. Led by artist Miriam McCurdy, two sessions will run at the Burton amongst the '40 Artists: 80 drawings' exhibition involving a range of creative activities that blur the boundaries of drawing and mark making.

Drawings produced will be collated into Bideford's very own Book of Drawing, a concertina book which will be displayed in Bideford Library until the end of October. This free event is a fun day out for the whole family. So if you fancy trying your hand at some more unusual drawing activities then book your place now for the 8th October. Just when you thought October couldn't get any busier at the Burton we are also hosting Bideford's Film Society on Thursday 27th October, to show Horrid Henry, 7pm, (Bideford Film Society's normal entry charge apply), as well as a chance to explore the Burton's own collections through the Burton Book of Brilliance.

We've gathered together a load of other things you should take note of this October, and what you can do to celebrate!

The whole month is Black History Month, aimed to highlight and share the rich cultural history of African and Caribbean heritage. You can find loads of resources and ideas of what to do at www.black-history-month.co.uk

Sunday October 9th – Seed Gathering Day

Get your coat and gloves on and get into the garden, as the Tree Council have decided to mark the second Sunday of October as Seed Gathering Day, to help secure the trees of the future. Why not plant some pips or seeds from different types of fruit you've eaten?

Jaw Bone

For very many years there was a large jaw bone at Westward Ho! at the entrance to Kipling Tors at the bottom of Stanwell Hill. I assume it came from a whale, and I wonder if anyone knows what kind of whale had jaws of this size and whether the species was common off North Devon.

With thanks,

Tony Sanders Bridport

Questionnaire

I am a Geography student at the University of Gloucestershire, originally from North Devon, currently undertaking a study of migrants to the area. I am interested in the motivations for moving to North Devon amongst other issues. I have devised a very short online questionnaire aimed at gathering data on in-migration to North Devon. If you have moved to North Devon from outside the region in the last 10 years I would be interested in hearing from you. The link for the survey is given below. If you are interested in taking part, please type this into your browser window. The survey will only take a few minutes.

<http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/3PCZJGS>

The information collected as part of the research will be confidential and all responses treated anonymously. If you would like to know more about this research or are interested in the topic please email victoriawithecambe@connect.glos.ac.uk and I would be happy to discuss it further with you.

60 years at the Burton

October is a big month for the Burton as we turn 60! Celebrating this illustrious occasion we have planned several events and activities that we hope you'll all join in.

To mark the anniversary, a giant lantern in the shape of a ship will lead a dusk procession of over 60 lanterns made by local children, young people, volunteers and community groups, around Victoria Park and the Burton on the 28th October. This should prove to be a spellbinding event, with the parade starting at 7pm, and music and refreshments from 6.30pm. All are welcome and the event is free. In the lead up to the parade, why not join in one of the lantern making workshops – either a full day helping to make the giant ship (£12) or a drop in session (£2.50) making your own lantern for the parade, on the 24th, and 28th October.

The Friends of the Burton are also celebrating the Burtons 60th, with an event on Saturday 29th October – canapés and wine with a 1950's dress code and special surprise guest, tickets are £5 and doors open at 7pm.

Alongside these events, the Burton will also host two outstanding exhibitions commemorating the significance of this occasion. The first is drawn from the Burtons own collection, an exhibition of works by one of the founders of the Burton - Hubert Coop - including never exhibited sketchbooks and works on loan from local collectors. A truly unique opportunity to see these works together. The exhibition opens from 14th October – 11th November.

Opening on the 27th October, In Camera: Snowdon and the World of British Art, a touring exhibition from Pallant House Gallery, consists of around sixty-five iconic photographs by Snowdon, capturing some of the most important figures in recent art history including Frank Auerbach, Peter Blake, William Coldstream, John Piper, Graham Sutherland, Joe Tilson, David Hockney, Damien Hirst, Mark Wallinger, the Chapman Brothers, Chris Ofili and Rachel Whiteread.

The next meeting of the North Devon Group of the Devon Family History Society will be on Saturday 15th October, 2-4pm, at the Burton Art Museum, Bideford. All are welcome and it is free to attend. The speaker this month will be Senior Archivist at North Devon Record Office, Tim Wormleighton, who will be talking about discovering Parish Records. Not to be missed. A reminder to drivers that the parking opposite the Burton is now free on Saturdays after 12.00 lunch time.

Our weekly help sessions at the Bideford Library are now in progress again and as from 1st October they will move to Friday mornings, 9.45am, 10.30am, 11.15am. If you require any help with your research or would just like some guidance, then ring and book a session. 01237 476075.

Book news

'Snow Flower and the Secret Fan' by Lisa See

In August, the Readers' Group at Bideford Library discussed 'Snow Flower and the Secret Fan' by Lisa See. For once we were all united in lavishing praise on the novel. Admittedly, it was a select few of our usual number, but the conversation was lively and interesting.

The book is fascinating in its recreation of rural China in the nineteenth century where women were regarded as little more than chattels; they were not well educated, had marriages arranged for them and spent most of their lives indoors. Sons were prized, daughters were worthless. Worst of all, in my opinion, girls had their feet bound at the age of five or six, which virtually condemned them to a life spent indoors, unable to walk very far. I found it difficult to read the vivid description of how this was done. In one small area of the country, the women developed a secret written language in order to communicate privately with female friends.

The story focuses on the lives of two girls, Lily and Snow Flower, who are 'twinned' by a matchmaker when young in order to enhance their chances of making better marriages when older. They record the major events of their lives in the secret language of Nu shu, written on a fan which is passed between them over the years. Lily and Snow Flower grow very close, experiencing joy and heartache on their journey.

Lisa See must have researched the minutiae of Chinese life in great depth in order to transport her readers there so effectively. She writes lyrically throughout and the central relationship of the two girls is explored and developed sympathetically. Those of us who read the book would all like to experience more of her work.

There followed a thought provoking debate about what makes women beautiful in a particular epoch. How could people possibly find bound feet attractive? But then why were tiny waists nipped in by corsets considered pleasing on the eye? In the fairy tale, 'Cinderella', the girl with the smallest feet gets the handsome prince, perpetuating the supposed attraction of size 3s! Perhaps an author in the future researching a novel set in Britain in the twenty-first century will wonder at the fashions for body piercings, tattoos or six inch heels. Beauty is, as they say, in the eye of the beholder

Ronald Duncan. *Poetry, plays, opera and exploding pigs – a life in Devon

Wordquest Devon presents this free public lecture at the Burton Art Gallery and Museum.

Ronald Duncan was a writer, farmer and landowner who lived at Welcombe from the mid 1930s to 1982. During that time his visitors included composer Benjamin Britten and singer Kathleen Ferrier, Lord Harewood, and the glamorous actresses Virginia Maskell and Anna Proclemer. During the Second World War he set up a pacifist community working land between Hartland and Welcombe. After the war he wrote plays that made him prominent on the London stage. He established the Devon Festival in the 1950s, and later founded the Royal Court Theatre in London. His tangled personal life is described in his autobiographies. He died in Bideford hospital.

In this lecture, Dr Alan Munton draws on Duncan's books about Devon life, and the writer's extensive literary archive at Exeter University, to describe a fascinating experiment in culture and rural living. The writer's books available for consultation at Bideford Library include. The Blue Fox 1951 Jan at the blue fox, 1952 Journal of a husbandman, Faber, 1944, but visit www.devon.gov.uk/library/catalogue for other titles and locations Thursday 13th October 1pm at Burton Art Gallery and Museum – free, advance booking essential. The Exmoor Pony Centre was set up by the Moorland Mousie Trust in 2006 to further their work to preserve and promote the endangered Exmoor Pony, our oldest native breed. It is a very small enterprise within Exmoor National Park and during the better months of the year we arrange Exmoor Experience Rides on the moor or Taster sessions on site to enable people to meet Exmoor ponies at close quarters. The Centre is open to visitors all year round and free to visit although we hope that visitors will want to contribute to our work with donations or by buying something from our small onsite shop.

In the winter months we handle wild foals, born on the moor, to gain their trust and give them a future that they would not otherwise have had – in past years they would have been sold off for pet-food. The Centre only employs two full-time staff along with some part-timers in the summer holidays and one administrator so it is also quite dependent on the goodwill of volunteers from all around the country to help out with the work. Many young ponies go to foster homes, either on a short-term or long-term basis and they really benefit from this personal attention. Many others go out to Conservation grazing sites where they are highly valued, as they will eat the invasive plants that threaten the rare species.

This Summer has proved particularly difficult for keeping the ponies weight down. Normally they come in at Easter looking slim and fit after their Winter holidays on the moor. Unfortunately this year, that didn't happen. There was obviously a lot more keep about than usual, and coupled with this Summer's weather, we now have some very fat (but reasonably fit) ponies. We think that it might be a good idea to look for temporary homes for some of them over the winter months so that they continue to get regular riding exercise. If you think you could offer to keep and exercise a pony whilst we are busy handling wild foals, it would be a tremendous help. They are usually away on their holidays from November till March, but some of them could really do with a continuing exercise regime.

Dinner and a Murder Mystery at the Burton Art Gallery & Museum

Friday 7 October 2011, 7pm Tickets £32 per person to include an evening meal.

1940s Bideford revived but with an unwanted guest.....

Mystery, Murder, and War Time Britain - A unique way of learning about Bideford's heritage and the Burton's collections. Prompted by Information Assistant Emily Paine's love of whodunits, the Burton is opening its doors to intrigue and mystery as it sets the scene for a murder most foul.

Bideford played a very important role during World War II activities. A busy port town it thrived under the responsibility and significance of such a role. The community pulled together and a degree of normality was able to be maintained including still attending social celebrations. Set in World War II the Murder Mystery Dinner Evening uses a wedding – as the starting point for a crime. Emily said, 'the local community tries to forget the troubles of war and joins together to celebrate. . But the celebration soon turns sour due to the arrival of an uninvited guest - and murder!' The evening will be devised by experienced actors from local company "Playing Dead Murder Mystery Entertainment" and guests are encouraged to dig out their 1940s fancy dress to enter into the spirit of things. Audience members can either sit back and watch the drama unfold or get involved as much as they like, including questioning characters and investigating theories - but beware – as in real life - people don't always tell the truth... Emily added, "I can't wait to see the audience's reaction as something like this has never been done at the Burton before."
